Principal's Message

Dear Alumni,

The 1993-94 school year is off to an excellent start. Our enrollment is 1979. This is about the same number of students we had last year.

Our gym looks wonderful, thanks to the terrific support from the PTSA and the Kick-Off committee, who provided the funding to install new lights and paint the exterior. We are working to improve our students' skills with technology.

We opened a new computer lab last year. Our hope is to increase the number of computers in our classrooms so that students will have

I was thinking the other day, which is generally a dangerous prospect for my wife and those standing too nearby, but anyway, what occurred to me was that I am not only a person (a little overweight and not a little balding) but I am also a part of a continuous network of people and relationships. In one aspect, I am an alumnus of Point Loma High and relate to all of you nice folks in that regard--in this newsletter. But, also, you and I have many other things in common. We each care about our families, about our communities and about our futures. Let's take you for example. Depending on which hat you are wearing at the time (Mom, Sister, Uncle, Alumni*, you will look at your world with particular wants and needs. Really great things can happen in the cross-over from wearing one hat to another hat. What I mean is, if you're talking to your son or daughter or your mom or dad and all of a sudden you realize that you are talking to them as a friend, not just in that parent/child talk...that is the time when you know there is something special in the relationship.

Well that same feeling of special relationship can be found in community relationships as well. I've discovered that in my work with the alumni association over the last several years, that I have had opportunities to help people make connections that will make a difference in their life.

Whether it has been making sure someone was able to hook up with old classmates from long ago and re-make friendships or to help a graduating senior with an alumni scholarship. It becomes personal, I'm not just an alumni member but a part of a network of expanding relationships, and so are you.

Well, this is my last column as the Alumni Association president, it's time for someone else to enjoy the limelight. Thanks for your support. Ω

As Always,
Curt Lutz, Class of '77

Fall Sports At PLHS, Coach Bennie Edens

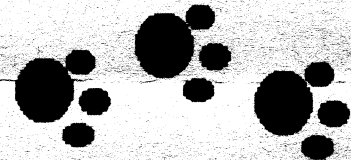

Fall sports are underway at the Point with high hopes and enthusiasm by all. The teams have large numbers turning out for the sports and cutting process is not looked forward to by the coaching staff or students involved. It is better to have tried and been cut than to never have tried at all.

Boys Cross Country, Girls Tennis (under new coach Lauri Hollis) and Girls Volleyball are the early season favorites to take championships in the Eastern League. Girls Cross Country and Football are both in rebuilding years but have high hopes for successful seasons.

Come see the teams participate, we need your support and being part of your sons or daughters extracurricular activities is a common interest that is good for all families..Ω

(Or if you don't have children at PL come on down...communities come together at the games too! - cl)
